Opening Procedures

Inspect the backs of the Red 6 deck pack of cards, dealers are to examine each card for rips, creases, marks that could hinder shuffling in the machine. Once verification is complete, dealers are to then load the red 6 deck pack of cards into the shuffler elevator and press the button to shuffle.

Please repeat process for Blue 6 deck pack.

In the event of a shuffler malfunction, a supervisor can direct the dealer to hand shuffle. If a hand shuffle is required, dealers are to wash each deck thoroughly and then perform a 6-deck thorough wash.

Dealers are to NOT to open both containers UNTIL the first 6 deck card pack is in the shuffler. This will prevent colors getting mixed up.

Closing Procedures

Dealers and the Pit Manager need to take notice and verify the # of cards the machine is reading. It should read 312 for each 6-deck pack. If it does not display 312 the decks must be suited down. Dealers and Floors please take notice on the last shoe dealt of the night. Verify the numbers prior to the end of the night so that the cards do not need to be run through again.

Upon closing the table, the dealer will NOT have at anytime both sets of cards on the layout at the same time. Dealers are to load the existing decks into its container first. The cards do not have to be suited down. Repeat same process for the 2nd set of cards.

Dealers are to take the container of cards and the shoe and correctly place it in the Pit supply cabinet.

Shuffle Procedure

When the cut card comes out during the play of hand or the cut card is first to come out at the start of the next hand the dealer will break down the shoe and plug remaining stub in 3 parts into the discard rack. (Lo Mid High) Once the existing shoe is in the discard rack the dealer with then push the button on the shuffler.

The dealer will FIRST load the decks from the discard rack into the empty elevator and remove the shuffled 6 deck from the machine. The shuffled deck shall be placed onto the cut card and the dealer shall proceed to offer the player to cut as normal.

Dealing Procedures

- Dealers will burn the first card upon a new shoe or entering the table. Upon player request, the dealer may expose this card.

- Dealers will check all bets made by players before dealing cards. Only $5 or $10 ante bets are allowed. All ante bets must be made in betting circle. All multiplier bets must be made in the designated location near the betting circle.

- In order to play 5 card jackpot wager, player must play both hands of blackjack and 3 card bonus wagers.

- Dealers will place cards in front of appropriate betting circle, with 2nd card going to the left side of the 1st. All additional cards will go towards the left side of the previous card so that 3 of the 4 corners of the card are visible to all players, dealers, supervisors and surveillance.

- Dealers will deal from left to right ending with them. The first card of the dealers is face down at first and will be flipped face up onto the dealer's second card which is face down.

- Dealers will always check hole card with a face card up before the start of player decisions

- Dealers must draw on all soft 17's and stay on hard 17's.

- Players must use hand signals when performing an action. Tapping table for a hit; waving off for a stay. If the signal is unclear, the dealer will verbally question the command.

- Players are not able to surrender.

- When a player splits, the bet must be above the appropriate hand. When a split happens, players must put up an additional ante bet and match all multiplier bets. The dealer will stack the original ante bet along with the multiplier bets in the ante circle. The dealer will then take the additional ante and multiplier bets necessary to split the hand and place it next to the original bets that are now located in the ante circle.

- When a player doubles, the bet must be side by side the original bet. Players can double for less but it must be exactly half. The dealer will stack the original ante bet along with the multiplier bets in the ante circle. The dealer will then take the additional ante and multiplier bets necessary to make the double down bet and place it next to the original bets that are now located in the ante circle.

- When a player doubles, the double card will be turned to the side to represent no more cards.

- Split Aces 2nd cards are turned to the side to signal no more cards. The dealer will stack the original ante bet along with the multiplier bets in the ante circle. The dealer will then take the additional ante and multiplier bets necessary to split the hand and place it next to the original bets that are now located in the ante circle.

- If a player busts, Dealers will always take losing bets before taking losing cards.

- Dealers will always take cards away starting with their own from right to left in order. This is done so if there is any question the hand can be re-opened and shown.

- When paying winning bets, dealers will place winning chips next to existing bets in the same denomination as the player bet. Winning bets will be paid 1 to 1 and all blackjacks will be paid 3 to 2

- Players are allowed to play multiple hands

Insurance:

- When offering insurance or even money, dealers will open their right-hand palm up and from left to right moving their hand to 3rd base pausing for a short period and then closing their hand palm down back to first base to close insurance. Dealers will also verbally announce the question of insurance simultaneously. Dealers will then check for Blackjack.

- Insurance bets must be half of the players bet and must be made for the ante wager and multiplier wager.

- If the dealer has blackjack, dealers will take all losing bets first from right to left, before paying out any insurance bets. (A losing bet that is insured must also be taken out of the circle to show that the bet lost. The only winning bets on the table are insurance wagers.
  If the dealer does not have blackjack, dealer will take all losing insurance bets from right to left and then start the hand at first base.
